RE: Recognition of the South Australia Certificate of Education (SACE)

Dear Professor Martin Westwell,

I am pleased to confirm that the following credential awarded by SACE Board of South Australia is recognized by the Comparative Education Service (CES), University of Toronto School of Continuing Studies as equivalent to the Secondary School Diploma in Canada:

- South Australia Certificate of Education (SACE)

Comparative Education Service (CES), University of Toronto School of Continuing Studies is one of the six members of the Alliance of Credential Evaluation Services of Canada (ACESC).

ACESC was established in the 1990s to ensure compliance with UNESCO conventions related to the recognition of qualifications, following ratification in Canada. Members of ACESC issue assessment reports for general purposes to outline expert, non-binding opinions on the assessment of academic credentials issued outside Canada. These reports are widely used by competent recognition authorities in Canada.

Sincerely,

Pei Zhu
Manager
Comparative Education Service
